

Stop Suffering:

Medical breakthrough provides relief for headache sufferers

BY MELINA COZBY

When she first heard Fox News report describing a medical breakthrough for headache and migraine relief—offered only through dentists!—Dr. Melina Cozby of Forney Family Dentistry was skeptical. “I’ve suffered from chronic, daily headaches for as long as I can remember,” she says. “It sounded too good to be true!”

So before offering the new proven treatment protocol called TruDenta, she completed therapy herself so she could give her patients a firsthand account. After one treatment, she was a believer.

“My quality of life improved so dramatically that I want to provide this to everyone I meet! Everyone deserves the benefits of this therapy!”

So Dr. Cozby is pleased to announce the opening of the Texas Headache Relief Center, where her team of health professionals can provide relief from headaches, jaw pain, bruxism imbalances, and sore muscles, and can allow you to feel better... now!

“It has been astonishing,” she relates, describing patients who had not been helped by CAT scans, MRI’s, medications, and even botox injections. “After only one [TruDenta treatment], they felt immediate relief!” she says. “When our patients tell us over and over how thankful they are for having their lives returned, we celebrate with them!”

But why would a dentist offer headache therapies?

Most headaches are caused by unmanageable, unintended forces in the head and neck. Dentists are uniquely qualified to comprehensively treat these root problems. Every day, they encounter patients who chew, clench, grind, tear, and work their head and neck muscles as strenuously as athletes, significantly stressing their teeth, muscles, nerves, tendons, and ligaments. Dysfunctional chewing, swallowing, posturing, and airway management perpetuate the pain and damage.

The results? TMJ disorder, excessive tooth wear/breakage, tinnitus, clicking/popping of the jaw... and chronic headaches/migraines!

Until now, dentists have not been able to effectively access these functional elements and correct these functions. But TruDenta pinpoints impairments in this area and uses state-of-the-art equipment to promote healing.

“We have patients who have tried everything, seen every specialist, and tried every medication with no relief,” reports Dr. Cozby. “But after only one TruDenta treatment, they report immediate improvement. Some are even pain-free!”

There are no drugs, no needles, and no pain... so patients actually look forward to visiting their dentist! Says Dr. Cozby, “I always want to be on the cutting edge and provide my patients with the latest technology. I knew I would keep that promise with TruDenta.” ■

Dr. Cozby believes that everyone deserves a TruDenta digital exam, and her patients describe how treatments have permanently improved their lives:

- fewer, less intense, even eliminated headaches/migraines
- better sleep
- no more clenching, grinding, and sore muscles
- reduced popping/clicking of the jaw
- increased head/neck range of motion.
