Most Important Qualities of the Doctor-Patient Relationship

The key word is relationship—it requires trust and communication. There are a host of other critical qualities—consistency, compassion, respect, understanding, empathy, patience and being genuine. You’ll find these characteristics from each and every person on our team.

Best Advice to Patients | My advice is always, “Don’t wait.”

Things rarely get better with time and commonly become more costly and complicated. But, we don’t dwell on the past, so when you’re here you will never be scolded. If you’re nervous about your dentistry, just take things one step at a time. First, pick up the phone and give us a call. Then come in and visit with us. We’ll answer your questions and help you develop a plan that’s comfortable for you.

Why Choose Me | We strive to provide our patients with the convenience of having the whole family treated in this one office without a need for multiple referrals. We do most everything right here ourselves. That’s the beauty of having such an accomplished team and skilled doctors. We take the time to listen to our patients concerns, needs and wants. We also love and enjoy our work and we will do everything possible to make it as enjoyable for you, too.

Greatest Professional Accomplishment | We have been awarded

Best in Keller four years in a row—2009, 2010, 2011 and 2012. Also, I was recently awarded my Diplomat Status in the American Dental Implant Association. Less than 2% of members attain this status. But above all, having the opportunity to do what I love to do. Dentistry. And to be able to perform at a high degree of excellence.

Charitable Work | Missionary works include a trip to Dominican Republic where I was a part of a 20 doctor team. We placed over 450 dental implants and performed 80 sinus grafts, as well as an untold number of smaller procedures—all over a three day period. The donated time, materials and equipment totaled over one million dollars. Christian Mission works also include Brazil deep along the Amazon River to also provide health care and dentistry in remote villages. Christ Haven, Community Storehouse and Captain Hope’s Kids are all dear to our hearts.

Mission | To provide our patients the convenience of having the whole family treated in this one location without a need for multiple referrals. To enjoy our time together while providing excellence. To make our patients experience as comfortable and enjoyable as possible.
